— ORIGIN

Before Diplovia, there was an idea.

Apex Conclave is a youth-led events ecosystem built to create environments where ambitious students can think, compete, build and lead.

It is not an event organiser in the usual sense. Conferences, simulations and competitions are how we work, but the point is what happens inside them. Students stop reading about diplomacy, enterprise and policy and start practising them, under time limits, in front of their peers, with a position to defend.

Apex Conclave builds platforms for experiential learning and youth engagement. Diplovia, our flagship virtual Model United Nations, is the one you are reading about.

THE CONFERENCE

Diplomacy without a border.

Diplovia is the flagship virtual Model United Nations conference by Apex Conclave.

Diplovia puts the committee room on your screen. Delegates are assigned countries, meet on Zoom or Google Meet, and debate international issues with students who could be logging in from anywhere.

The format is not watered down. You still research a position, speak for a country, negotiate with other delegates, draft solutions and respond to a crisis when one breaks.

What you no longer need is a train ticket.

THE DELEGATE'S WORK

01

Research

Know the country's record before you speak for it.

02

Represent

Argue the position, not your own opinion.

03

Negotiate

Find out who you can work with.

04

Resolve

Turn agreement into a written draft.

HOW IT WORKS

Your screen becomes the conference room.

THREE PHASES. ONE COMMITTEE.

Before

The work starts before the first session.

01 Research
Learn the topic and the context around it.

02 Background Guide
Your starting map of the agenda.

03 Country Assignment
The position you will represent.

04 Preparation
Build your stance, your speeches and your list of likely allies.

During

Then the committee convenes.

01 Opening
Delegates take their places and the agenda is set.

02 Moderated Caucuses
Structured debate. Time is limited, so make each point count.

03 Unmoderated Caucuses
The floor loosens. Delegates talk directly and compare positions.

04 Negotiation
Competing interests meet.

05 Drafting
Positions become written text.

06 Crisis
Events can break into the room and demand fast responses.

After

What you carry out of the room.

01 Awards
Recognition for outstanding performance.

02 Recognition
Your work seen by the committee.

03 Certificates
Proof you were there.

04 Connections
The delegates you debated, allied with or opposed.

WHY MUN

MUN doesn’t teach you what to think. It teaches you how to think under pressure.

01	Public speaking	Making one clear point in the time you’re given, to a room listening for weaknesses.
02	Research	You can’t defend a position you haven’t studied. Country policy, past behaviour, the facts behind the agenda.
03	Negotiation	Reaching agreement with people who want something different.
04	Policy thinking	Turning a problem into something a committee can actually vote on.
05	Leadership	Leading a bloc without a title, by persuading rather than instructing.
06	Critical thinking	Testing claims, your own included, before they cost you the room.
07	Collaboration	A resolution has many authors. Share the draft and keep your position.

THE TEAM

The people building the platform.

Ayush Vishnoi

FOUNDER & CEO

“Apex Conclave exists to give students a place to practise what they usually only read about. Diplovia takes that online, so where you live doesn’t decide whether you get a seat in the room. Do the research, pick your position, and speak.”

Kapish Garg

CO-FOUNDER

“A good committee is built by delegates who listen as carefully as they speak. Bring a strong position, and be willing to move it when the argument earns it.”

Vansh Jain

CHIEF OPERATING OFFICER

“Running a conference online means the details decide everything: timing, access, clarity. Our job is to make those invisible, so your only concern is your country’s position.”

— THE ARENAS

Five rooms.
Five ways to test yourself.

TWO DAYS. PICK YOUR ROOM.

UNSC

UNITED NATIONS SECURITY COUNCIL

POWER

The Middle East Crisis: Preventing a Regional War

The body responsible for international peace and security.

WHO

WORLD HEALTH ORGANIZATION

SURVIVAL

Preparing for the Next Global Health Emergency

The global health authority, asked whether the world is ready.

UNHRC

UNITED NATIONS HUMAN RIGHTS COUNCIL

PRINCIPLES

Human Rights in the Age of Artificial Intelligence

Where rights meet technology that moves faster than law.

UNGA

UNITED NATIONS GENERAL ASSEMBLY

DIPLOMACY

Restoring Trust in Multilateralism

The widest room, and the hardest question.

HC

HISTORICAL CRISIS COMMITTEE

HISTORY / CRISIS

The Cuban Missile Crisis, 1962: 13 Days to the Brink

The room is 1962. The clock is running.

FIND YOUR FIT

Which room is yours?

THE CHALLENGE BEHIND EACH AGENDA

POWER

Peace and security decisions rarely have a clean answer. You balance national interest against the risk of escalation, and work out what your country can accept when the alternative is a wider war.

Suits delegates who like high-stakes negotiation and precise wording.

WHO

SURVIVAL

Health emergencies ignore borders, budgets and politics. Delegates weigh preparedness, funding and cooperation before the next outbreak, not after it.

Suits delegates who prefer evidence, systems and practical solutions.

UNHRC

PRINCIPLES

When technology moves faster than law, whose rights are protected, and who decides? Expect debates on privacy, accountability and bias, where a principled position still has to survive compromise.

Suits delegates who argue from values.

UNGA

DIPLOMACY

Multilateralism only works if states believe in it. The task is to rebuild that confidence across competing interests, one clause at a time.

Suits delegates who enjoy building consensus.

HC

HISTORY / CRISIS

October 1962. Thirteen days, incomplete information, and decisions you can't undo. You respond to developments as they arrive.

Suits fast thinkers who stay steady when the plan falls apart.

Not sure? Choose the agenda you can't stop thinking about.

— THE DIFFERENCE

Not just another MUN.

A physical MUN asks for travel, time and money before you have said a word. Diplovia asks you to log in.

350+
DELEGATES
A competitive student environment. Expected participation.

100%
DIGITAL
No travel. No geography barrier.

2
A focused conference experience.

5
ARENAS
Different institutions. Different challenges.

399 INR
REGULAR REGISTRATION
Accessible participation.

299 INR
EARLY BIRD
First 3 days.

THE OUTCOME

You come for the conference. You leave with more than a certificate.

WHAT YOU BUILD

Delegate experience

Time in a real committee, on a real agenda.

Research ability

Learning to prepare a position properly.

Public speaking

Practice under time limits.

Negotiation

Working out agreement with delegates who disagree.

Strategic thinking

Choosing what to argue, and when.

WHAT YOU TAKE HOME

Certificate

Proof you took part.

Awards

Recognition for outstanding performance in committee.

Competitive recognition

Standing among 350+ expected delegates.

Networking

The students you debated, allied with and competed against.

THE DELEGATE

Who sits at the table?

01 The First-Timer
Never attended an MUN before. You'll learn the format by being in it.
